C-O-F Reports Lower Marketings Seen Bearish

pected. The average of 21 pre-report estimates was 100.1%, in a range of 96.00 to 105.2% of a year ago.

Joe Kropl, analyst with LBAS Consulting Group, said the 08% marketing figure still indicates there are ample near-term fed cattle supplies. In the near term, Kropl expects fed cattle to trade in a $54.00 to $57-per-cwt range during the next 2 weeks, limits the Texas Panhandle and Southwest Kansas.

Fed steer prices traded at $57.00 in Texas and western Kansas today, according to USDA.

The 2% decrease in January marketings, combined with fairly light marketings in recent weeks in the major cattle feeding areas, has some analysts believing feedlots may not be current, and lower cattle prices are likely in the next 2 to 6 weeks.

"We need to recognize the fact we backed up some cattle," said Dick Hummel, analyst with Farmers Grain and Livestock Corp., referring to the 98% marketings.

Hummel expects cash cattle prices to trend lower in coming weeks, movement at retail counters will have more bearing on the direction and severity of movement in cattle prices.

Greg Schinkut, a Mesa, Ariz., analyst, also said the report shows not enough cattle were marketed to stay current. As a result, he expects cattle prices to reach $54.00, limits the plains, within 6 weeks.

The 7% drop in cattle on feed in January indicates there will eventually be less cattle, Kropl said. The lower cattle numbers and expectations for improved beef demand in the second quarter has Kropl expecting fed cattle prices to increase then and average between $58.00 and $62.00.

Pre-report estimates of cattle on feed averaged 91.6% of a year ago and ranged from 90.2 to 93.5%.

The report showed January placements increased 9% from last year. Many analysts were expecting a lesser increase, with pre-report estimates averaging 104.0% from a range of 96.5 to 110.8%.

Tom Tappens, analyst with Professional Cattle Consultants Corp., called the placements the most bearish aspect of the report. But because January placements are light relative to other months, he is not expecting much price pressure in the second quarter when these cattle come to market.

Kropl said the 9% increase in placements probably will cause June live cattle futures to move lower because of the figure's bearish implications for the deferred contracts. June closed Friday at $59.92, up 37 points.

The analysts' placement estimates averaged 104.0% in a range of 96.5 to 110.8%.

Budget Cuts To Come From Checks To Producers

Reductions are scheduled to begin March 1.

Of the total cuts, $823 million must come from 1986 Commodity Credit Corp. programs, Block said. However, no reductions will be made in price support loans, purchase agreements and regular deficiency payments for 1985 crops, even if those payments are made during 1986.

Target prices and loan and purchase rates for 1986 crops will not be changed, he said. The cuts will come directly from a 4.6% discount in producer checks. The reduction will be made after the maximum annual payment limitation of $50,000 per producer has been applied.

Block said the amount of any entering the conservation reserve the annual rental payment must be reduced. For the dairy program, the 1985 producer bids will not be reduced. For the dairy program, the 1985 part level of $11.60 per cwt will be unchanged for fiscal 1986, but C-C-C prices for cheese, butter and fat dry milk will be discounted 10% from March through September, he said.

Wool and mohair payments also will not be reduced, but the price paid for those commodities will not be increased, he said.

is natural, since his parents came to America from Italy and landed there.

Iacocca is without doubt one of America's hottest hotshot salesmen. He has demonstrated an almost uncanny sixth sense as to what Americans want in the way of automobiles at both Ford and later as head of Chrysler. Recall he was the genius who took the frame, chassis and motor of the plain Jane Falcon and dressed it up into a flashy car named the Mustang, and that success story is history.

There are legends of people, including most prominent Democrats, who think Iacocca has a Presidential limber. However, these days a lot of Democrats are attracted to anyone who comes across as a possible winner and creates a favorable public image.

Iacocca was obviously rolling his role as a newly fired. He remarked "I've got to stop getting fired like this!" There is always a strong odor of ham around every super-salesman you run into.

There is one thing you and me can be thankful for. This little flap gave us some momentary relief from hearing about how Gramm-Rudman was likely to bring on the "End of the World," and it also gave the once newsy Interior Department a moment in the headlines.

THE TEXAS EXPERIENCE

"Come and Take It"

When the colonists' leader Stephen F. Austin returned to Texas in September, 1835 after spending 18 months in a Mexico City prison, he held the issue of war or peace in his hands. Historian Archie McDonald recounts that despite Anglo fears for Austin's safety, the hush that had fallen over Texas political activity just after his arrest had eroded as local leaders began to challenge centralist authorities.

A key incident stemmed from state's rights leaders' attempts to move the capital of Coahuila y Texas from Bolitillo to Monclova, closer to Texas settlements. Mexican General Martin Porfioro de Coa brought central government troops in to suppress the move. The Texans' protests remind students of Texas history that the conflict between central government control and states' independence based on the Mexican Constitution of 1824 sparked the Texas Revolution.

McDonald notes that trouble flared again when Mexican President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna sent a detachment under Captain Antonio Tenorio to Anahuac at the head of Galveston Bay to enforce the custom law and begin collecting tariffs in 1835. Much to the Texans' dismay, Santa Anna had stopped the customs waiver Texas ports had enjoyed in the early years of Anglo settlement. In June 1835, Merchant Andrew Briscoe and Dr. W. C. Harris were arrested for refusing to allow Mexican guards to inspect the contents of a box filled with rocks intended as ballast for a ship. Believing this was only a ruse to mask smuggling, the guards insisted on a search raid, becoming alarmed, they discharged their weapons.

An ad hoc meeting of Texans at Sea Felipe de Austin sent William Travis and 25 men on a mission to Anahuac to drive Tenorio away. When they arrived by barge in Galveston Bay, Tenorio's men took to the woods nearby, but Tenorio surrendered later that evening.

The Mexicans were ordered to move his headquarters to San Antonio and demanded the surrender of "Juliano" Travis and other "outlaws" who had captured Tenorio. This was too much for even the Peace Party supporters. At a gathering in San Felipe on September 18, Austin finally concluded, "War is our only resource. There is no other remedy. We must defend our rights ourselves and our country by force of arms."

Committees of safety called for a consultation of all Texans to determine a course of action, McDonald says, but before they could gather, the Mexican army forced a decision. Col. Ugartechea sent a patrol to Gonzales to confiscate a six-pound cannon used for defense against Indians. Alcade Andrew Ponton refused to release the cannon without written orders. While the patrol returned for the orders, he buried the cannon.

Word of Ugartechea's plans spread among Texans and more men arrived to defend the cannon. They dug it up, readied it for battle, and prepared a flag with a picture of a cannon and the words, "Come and Take It." Their elected leader, Col. J. H. Moore, defied Lt. Francisco Cuernavaca's 100 troops to take the cannon, and the Mexicans returned to San Antonio because they had not been instructed to use force.

More Texans arrived in Gonzales and they elected Austin as their chief. He agreed to lead them to San Antonio, where they laid siege to Coa's installation. Meanwhile, the consultation formed an interim government, provided for an army, and decided to send Austin and two others to the United States for private and public aid. Edward Burleson succeeded Austin in leadership in San Antonio and in early December, Burleson prepared to withdraw from the city.

to follow him into the city in battle. More than 800 did so, and after a five-day battle, the Texans defeated Coa and ordered his return to Mexico.

Gonzales has been called "the beginning of the Texas Revolution," but McDonald states that it was the loss of San Antonio which drew the largest mass of Santa Anna's north to engage the major battle of that revolution.

Futures Insight

Week Ending Feb. 13

The futures markets continue to fall as collapsing crude oil prices drag all commodities lower. In the short span of 90 days, crude oil prices have fallen over 60% in value. It has been an unprecedented occurrence and the ramifications are just now being felt.

There are very few markets that have been able to avoid this most recent drop in price. As a rule of thumb, the markets that still appear to be in uptrends are the bonds, the currencies and the Dow. Other markets such as grains, livestock and metals look terrible.

But the bonds and the Dow have been so volatile lately, there's no telling where prices for those markets will be 10 days from now. But there is one thing of which I'm certain. The collapse of the crude oil market has brought forth fears of disinflation for all markets and for all commodities.

Which way from here? I'm going to stick my neck out and forecast a Livestock Complex that could be a pleasant surprise for producers in 1986. And at the same time this Complex is presenting aggressive futures traders with some excellent money making opportunities.

What has been hurting the livestock market in recent years is poor demand. Consumer eating habits have changed drastically as we all know. Red meat is out and chicken is in.

It's also common knowledge that if the consumer were to spend the same percentage of their disposable income on beef in 1986, as they did in 1985, the cattle market would be closer to $30 than to $60. Demand has been stinko for years because the consumer is unwilling or unable to spend hard earned money for red meat.

Demand is what livestock prices need. Either the consumer needs to increase their meat consumption or new demand must enter the marketplace. The key for livestock prices here in 1986 could very well be an unexpected surge in red meat consumption.

Recent government reports have shown that the creation of new jobs is picking up. This past month, for example, the non-farm job market was ex-instead a staggering 586,000 jobs were created. This jump in employment was not an isolated event. In mid January there was an increase of 320,000 workers onto non-farm payroll. This too was unexpected and this too is an important fundamental for livestock prices.

The recent fall in crude oil prices will soon show up at the pump. As consumers drive away from the gas stations, there will be more money in their pockets. Hopefully they will be driving to their local butcher shop. Sit cheaper gas could put them in a position to increase their meat consumption.

New demand or increased demand should show itself in the markets by spring. The groundwork has been established. The year 1986 may well be characterized by a sudden surge in new demand. Time will tell.

The supply end of the price equation tilts somewhat towards the "bull" side. The current hog herd is one of the smallest in 30 years. The nation cattle herd is the smallest in 23 years. Producers are being forced out of livestock industry because they need the cash flow. Poor profits and heavy debts are

The financial picture for the hog producing states of Iowa and Illinois is quite fragile. Other hog producing areas are also having problems. It seems that the likelihood of herd expansion is slim. It's possible that another reduction in herd size is closer to what the future may bring.

I remain very bullish towards the entire market. Let's continue to look for the April cattle contract to rally to $60 to $70 before it expires. The June contract has a shot at going to $70.

If the hog market can stay depressed through the months of April and May, a year-end rally seems assured. Establish "long" positions in the hog market on weakness. The cash market should bottom at or near the $40 level. Buy the futures when the cash markets hit that level.

Most livestock "bears" have their arguments on "supply" considerations. The reason being is that it's nearly impossible to gauge "demand." Trying to keep track of demand is like trying to catch the wind.

But the key for livestock prices in 1986 will be demand. And increased demand of some sort seems assured now.

Texas Bank For Co-ops' Lending Power Expanded

Port Worth - Texas Bank Cooperatives (TBC) borrowers some good news at their meeting last week in Fort Worth. According to James Rogers, president of the Farm Credit Banks of Texas, credit banks of the average interest rates for TBC borrowers fell 1.18 percent in 1985. The average cost of funds decreased from 10.78 percent in 1984 to 9.6 percent in 1985.

Likewise, the bank's credit was one of the highest in the wide Farm Credit System. Loans in the TBC portfolio received the top rating possible.

Rogers also addressed the problems of the recently passed Farm Credit Act for the Texas Bank for Cooperatives. He pointed out one of the riders added to the Farm Bill puts TBC on equal basis with other lenders to finance rural utilities.

"In the past we have had to turn down a number of loan requests for rural utilities due to eligibility problems. Most of these problems were the lack of sufficient farmer member of the cooperative."

The requirement in the past was 80% of a rural utility membership to be farmers or ranchers. Because now law does not specify a farmer or rancher, TBC now has the ability to make loans to a known total of rural electric and telephone cooperatives as well as certain telephone companies statewide.

The Farm Credit Banks of Texas comprised of the Texas Bank Cooperatives, the Federal Land Bank of Texas and its 44 Federal Land Bank Associations, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas, and 28 Production Credit Associations. The TBC makes loans to 178 of the agricultural and rural utility cooperatives. Collectively, the Credit Banks provided more than $1 billion in financing to Texas farmers and their cooperatives in 1985.

Brangus Break Million Dollar Figure For Fifth Straight Year

For the fifth year in a row, Brinks Brangus Bull Sale exceeded the million dollar figure for a $1,762,800 gross and a $87,288 average on 47 Brangus and 4 Blood bull lots. sweepstakes. Hake also grows 240 acres of corn, alfalfa and soybeans, and said he will use the prize money for his farm operation.

The $10,000 check was awarded to Hake, and his wife, Linda, during a special NCA presentation, by Ken Schuttler, Animal Nutrition and Health Department Manager. During his presentation, Schuttler explained that Hake uses only GUARDIAN Ear Tags for fly control, and noted that the Madison farmer was a example of a producer who knows the importance of a good fly-control program.

It now seems clear that we have not kept the development of our human relations in industry in pace with the development of our production technology. Perhaps for every dollar we spent in scientific research for the development of better products and more efficient machines, we should have spent another dollar in research into the problem of people in industry.

SCOURX® Calf Anti-Diarrheal Now Available From Schering

Kenilworth, NJ — Schering Animal Health is now marketing SCOURX®, a safe and effective treatment for diarrhea in newborn calves.

SCOURX successfully controls diarrhea by conserving the calf's own essential body fluids, says Dennis White, product manager. In addition, SCOURX is easily administered and leaves no drug residue.

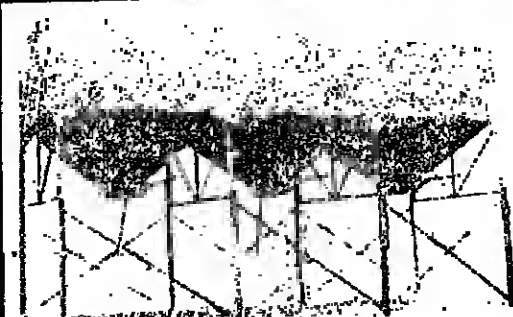

The active ingredient in SCOURX is pregelatinized starch, which works in the calf's intestinal tract to stimulate fluid absorption.

SCOURX is easily administered in nonmedicated liquids. It mixes instantly with colostrum, milk replacer or water at any temperature. The mixture flows readily and can be fed in a nipple bottle, bucket or esophageal feeder.

SCOURX is also FDA approved for complete safety. White adds. It is not a drug, so it leaves no tissue residue and needs no withdrawal period before slaughter.

Even as it controls diarrhea,

Hawkeye Steel Products Purchases Brower Mfg. Co.

The poultry and livestock equipment lines of Brower Manufacturing Company, have been purchased by Hawkeye Steel Products, Inc. of Houghton, Iowa. Brower was founded as a mail order supply house in Quincy, Illinois, in 1922 by William Brower. While manufacturing a wide range of poultry, horse, pet and swine equipment, Brower is most noted as a dominant factor in supplying equipment for family poultry flocks, both in the U.S. and as an exporter to numerous countries. Brower also supplies the commercial poultry industry with automatic feeding and watering systems.

The Brower operation will be consolidated in Houghton, Iowa, by February of 1986. The Houghton facility serves as headquarters for Conrad-American and Eaton, manufacturers of grain storage and related equipment, and also for the manufacture of Prides of the Farm and Marlor equipment.

The consolidation reflects the continuing trend toward agricultural manufacturers becoming more efficient. The Pele of the Farm, Brower/Conrad-American combination represents an exceptional opportunity in that the product lines are complementary, permitting the leveling of production. Further, company dealers will be able to single source virtually any farmstead equipment for grain storage, poultry, and livestock production.

Oregon Rancher is Named Cattle Businessman of the Year

San Antonio, TX — Ron Baker of Hermiston, Or., was named the National Cattlemen Association's 1986 "Cattle Businessman of the Year" at the association's annual convention.

The 52-year-old rancher is president of C&B Livestock, Inc., an integrated cattle operation which includes a 20,000-head feedlot, a cow/calf division, an extensive genetic improvement division and a 4,500-acre farm. Baker is also a pioneer in using breeding technology to meet consumer needs.

"It is a great pleasure to present this award to Ron Baker," noted Jo Ann Brilith, president of the National Cattlemen's Association. "He has exemplified the characteristics of a businessman and has demonstrated diversity with the industry."

The award sponsored by Purina Mills, Inc., was given to Baker based on his innovative management practices and leadership in the beef industry, according to Jerry Palmer, director of the Beef Cattle Business Group at Purina. "Ron has been instrumental in developing and perfecting many of the production techniques cattlemen use today," he said. "By pioneering risk management techniques and sharing his ideas with other cattle producers, Ron has served both the cattle industry and his clients well."

Palmer presented Baker with a redwood and marble replica of the permanent "Cattle Businessman of the Year" plaque, which hangs in the NCA's national headquarters in Denver. There, Baker's name will be inscribed along with those of past winners.

Along with the plaque, Palmer presented Baker with a check for $1,000 and a second check for $10,000, in Baker's name, to The National Cattlemen's Foundation for use in cattle research, promotion and educational programs.

Baker was nominated for this year's award by Dr. Ludwig Elgruber, Dean of Agricultural Sciences at Oregon State University. Baker began his operation in 1966, after receiving a $10,000 gift from his parents. At the time, he worked at Doane Agricultural Services as an agricultural management consultant until 1967, when he left to devote his full attention to the cattle business.

Baker's foray into business savvy closely paralleled those of previous winners. John Armstrong, of Kingsville, Texas, and Jack Maddux of Waukena, Nebraska. According to Palmer, each of these men have devoted extensive time and effort in helping other cattlemen become more profitable.

Baker is past vice-chairman of the NCA's marketing committee, past chairman of the Oregon Cattle Feeders Committee and is a frequent lecturer before livestock, banking, extension and college groups.

Baker and his wife, the former Jane Irene Jacobson, have five children: Sheila, Colleen, Suzanne, Serena and Ray.

Vince Lombardi, the great coach of the Green Bay Packers, caught one of his players, Max McGee, breaking curfew and fined him $250. A couple of nights later he caught Max again. This time he doubled the fine to $500. The next he told McGee firmly, "And the next time it will be $1,000." Lombardi started to walk away, stopped, a small smile came across his face. "By the way, Max," he added, "if you find anything worth $1,000, let me know. I may go with you."

Santa Circuit by Buddy Smith

A large crowd was on hand in Fort Worth, Texas to see Judge Dick Vesper of Cotulla, Texas judge a very large show of excellent quality Santa Gertrudis. The weather was great. In fact it was nice in Fort Worth during the show than anyone could remember. Everyone was standing around in shirt sleeves. Over Yonder Ranch has the Calf Champion with their early junior heifer calf out of High Pockets 438. Cow Track W Ranch had the Yearling Champion with their late summer yearling heifer 555 which is a Santa Syndicate heifer out of Wason's "Sasquatch" and the "Pieturo Cow" 800. She went on to be the Reserve Grand Champion and join her brother 8556 to win the Produce of Dam. El Colla Ranch had the Senior Champion and Grand Champion female of the show with their "Cator" daughter 10. Cow Track W and Williams Double JJ Ranch had the Bull Calf Champion with their "Legacy" 518 who is an embryo calf out of Changer and 13210. Chaparral Ranch had the Yearling Champion with their "Pico" bred bull. Porter Rodgers Farm had the Senior Champion and Grand Champion bull with 183. He is a May '85 son of St. Nick 903 and is their nomination to the Western Heritage Sale. Indian Valley Ranch had the Champion and 4th place Produce of Dam — winners out of the "Pieturo Cow" 300. The animals used to win the 1985 Santa Gertrudis Super Sale were: 8556, 8555, and 8556. This was the major job her brother 8556 was selected Reserve Calf Champion and is being sold at the "Tribute Sale". Indian Valley comes back to win the Champion Calf of Sire class with his three embryo calves 8555, 8556 and 8556 who are out of the "Pieturo Cow" 800 and "Husler" 920. These are the three calves that won the Calf of Sire class at Dallas last fall.

The Premier cow/calf Futurity valued $15,000.00 for the Santa For GF Futurity which was started by Amie Ranch and Farrell Amie's cow "Farrell's Christmas" 8116. The Futurity winners were: Over Yonder Ranch, first; El Colla Ranch, second; and Long Fellow Ranch, third. If you didn't get a chance at a trophy buck or get to make a good quail hunt this year, you need to check with Dale Elrod of La Paloma Ranch. They have gone commercial in their hunting and it is good. Lefee and I went bird hunting with Dale in January and got into a lot of birds. Dale has come twenty odd birds, hunting jeeps and a camp house to make for a memorable hunt. While we were there we had a good visit with Kathleen and the kids and had a chance to see his embryo calves out of the "Pieturo Cow" 800 and "Husler" 920. Call Dale and line up a hunt for next year.

While looking at the Western Heritage nominated cattle, I had the chance to go out in David Murdoch's pasture. Farms at Thousand Oaks, California. What a place it has over twenty miles of "Man-O-War" fencing on it, not to mention some top Santa's. Their Western Heritage cow is an ewe daughter of 8000. This is the bull they bought in partnership with Chaparral Ranch from Nine Bar Ranch at the Integrity Sale. They are making plans to have a production sale somewhere in Texas during the month of June. It will feature the production of 8003 and "Boxes" their 4C Ranch Western Heritage bull. They will also be selling some of their foundation cows.

By the time most of you receive this issue the three day Santa Gertrudis sale in Houston, Texas will be history. I'm referring to "The Tribute" Sale held at the Marriott Hotel, February 20th; the Santa Gertrudis open show at the "Houston Livestock Show" and Rodeo, February 21st followed by the All Polled Santa and the Mid-Coast Santa Gertrudis Super Sale, February 22nd in the Astrodome's Super Salon. Having the opportunity to view over five hundred of quality Santa Gorts gathered for these four events promises to be awesome. To those of you who, for one reason or another missed out on this start planning now to join us for an even greater sale in February 1987. Watch for a full report to next month's Santa Circuit.

No New Fever Tick Infestations

Austin - No additional infestations of fever ticks have been reported this year from movement of cattle from a herd found to be infested in December, 1985, according to Dr. John W. Holcombe, Executive Director, Texas Animal Health Commission.

Ray Murphy of Brownsville first reported on December 3, 1985 what he believed to be a fever tick to an inspector.

tor, who submitted samples which were verified as fever ticks.

"The specific source of the cattle fever ticks has not been identified. His cattle may well have gotten ticks from the adjacent infested livestock. The small adjacent herds are of unknown origin, and they commingle with wanderlog livestock in the area," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Dipping of cattle on the Murphy farm is underway, the cattle from quarantines have been dipped and to be free of fever ticks when they are sold.

It is the cooperation of ranchers such as Mr. Murphy that aids us immensely in control of fever ticks. His reporting of fever ticks, even at economic hardship on his part, helps us in keeping tick infestations at a minimum. We need this type of cooperation by ranchers, particularly in the area along the Rio Grande River, to report suspected fever ticks," Dr. Holcombe said.

A weekly report of selvitiles in control measures are continuing in a routine manner with good cooperation from affected ranchers.

In all there have been 20 counties involved. Only Cameron and Starr counties have infestations. Quarantines on one or more premises are imposed in these counties: Austin, Bee, Brooks, Colorado, DeWitt, Duval, Fort Bend, Frio, Goliad, Jim Wells, Karnes, Wharton, Kinney and Zapata.

Nobody should be chief executive officer of anything for more than five or six years. By then he's stale, bored, and utterly dependent on his own elches - though they may have been revolutionary ideas when he first brought them to the office.

We have a fine selection of bulls and registered cattle at the Ranch - Come by and see us.

Polled Hereford enthusiasts from across the United States and Canada were in attendance for the Pharris Farms "Excellence '86" Sale held at the ranch in Hillboro, Texas on January 29, 1986. It was only a short year ago when "Excellence '86" saw the Polled Hereford auction record books.

"Excellence '86" was not to be outdone, with exceptional entertainment for the International extravaganza on January 28 from singer Helen Reddy.

When the final lot had passed through the auction ring on sale day, there was a total gross of $2,894,275. Breakdowns of the sale are as follows: 2 bulls averaged $11,200, 1 yearling package grossed $6,600, 71 females averaged $38,693, 78 lots averaged $37,911, 8 females averaged $40,000.

Topping the sale at $400,000 was Verlou Yellow Rose 6228, a daughter of Verlou 107H Much More, that sold to PRL 930K Hotline 347N going to Larry Newel of Dallas, Texas.

Polled Hereford 27 of Dallas paid $350,000 to take home JBS JLC DB Hickory's Hoosy, a July 1984 daughter of JBS Enforcer 107H that sold to PRL 930K Hotline 347N.

Polled Hereford 27 also paid $250,000 for PRL MS Kayline 810S, a daughter of PRL 930K Hotline 347N that sold to KLC RBS Perfection. Robertson Group of Fort Worth (a volume buyer in the sale) purchased one-half interest in the recent national reserve champion heifer at the National Polled Hereford Show in Denver, Colorado, BT Victress 409T. They paid $500,000 for this consignment of Bear-tooth Ranch and Pharris Farms. They also paid $70,000 for a heifer out of this lot.

155 Polled Herefords Compete At Fort Worth Standard Of Perfection

Sluicing veterans led the championship roster at the Fort Worth Polled Hereford Standard of Perfection (SOP) Show. Held in conjunction with the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show on Jan. 28, breeders from across the nation pulled in 155 head of cattle. Tom Shaw of Caldwell, Idaho, lined up the day's entries in the show dedicated to Glen and Lillian Allen of Hillboro, Texas.

The Allens have worked tirelessly breeding Polled Herefords since 1951, and cattle under the GLA banner have won championships all over the United States. Glen has served many years in leadership roles with the Texas and Central Texas Polled Hereford Associations, and Lillian helped spearhead the Pol-ette organization and their youth activities.

Bravo, a strong contender from the northeast, snatched the senior and grand champion bull titles. This son of PRL 390K Hotline 347N holds three grand champion titles in his show career, including the purple banner from the Tennessee Valley A&I Fair SOP Show. His owners include ACE Polled Hereford, Millbrook, N.Y.; Tammy Farms, Easton, Md.; Marshall Farms, Fort Bryon, N.Y.; and Eaton Farms, Farmersville Station, N.Y.

ACE returned to the victory circle with Napa Valley Polled Herefords, Napa, Calif., for the grand champion heifer banner. Junior champ ACE NV Flourantation, an Enforcer 107H daughter, took the title. She was grand champion at the New York State Fair and the Eastern States Exposition this show season.
